

Project Management / Construction Management

Project and construction managers plan the construction, manage the team working on the projects, and oversee the project's progression, ensuring the job is delivered on time and within budget. The project manager coordinates and directs the team working on site, ensuring everyone has the tools necessary to complete the project. The construction manager often oversees multiple projects, liaising with clients to ensure all stakeholders in a development are satisfied.

Jobs in this sector can include project managers, construction managers, logistics managers, planners, site managers, planning consultants and project coordinators.
